A screenshot of a web browser displaying a pricing page. The browser's address bar shows the URL '127.0.0.1:5500/index.html'. The page has a light blue header with the title 'Pricing'. Below the header, there are three white cards representing different pricing plans. The first card is 'Basic' for $10, described as a 'Simple website', with a blue 'Buy' button. The second card is 'Standard' for $20, described as a 'Business website', with a green 'Buy' button. The third card is 'Premium' for $50, described as having 'Advanced features', with a red 'Buy' button. Below the pricing section, there is a white section titled 'Contact Us'. It contains three input fields: 'Your Name', 'Email', and 'Message'. At the bottom of the contact section is a large blue 'Submit' button.
